Frequently Asked Questions

ABOUT THE INITIATIVES

What are Grand Challenges?

The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation recognizes that solving the most pressing challenges in global health and development requires more of the world's brightest minds working on them. The Grand Challenges family of initiatives seeks to engage innovators from around the world to solve these challenges. Grand Challenges initiatives are united by their focus on fostering innovation, directing research to where it will have the most impact, and serving those most in need.

Is this Campylobacter grant opportunity part of Grand Challenges Explorations?

No, but both this grant program and Grand Challenges Explorations are part of the overall Grand Challenges family of grant initiatives. The application deadline for this RFP is Wednesday, May 2, 2018, at 11:30 a.m. U.S. Pacific Standard Time, after which time applications will no longer be accepted.

Grand Challenges Explorations proposals are solicited and awarded multiple times per year, with each funding round addressing a few specific topics. For more information on this grant program, please see <https://gcgh.grandchallenges.org/about>.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Can I speak to someone about my application?

Due to the high volume of inquiries, we are not able to provide individual guidance on ideas either before or after submission.

Applicants should decide if their ideas fit the specific criteria of one of the available topics by viewing our website.

Please visit the foundation's main website to see if your area of interest will be a potential topic in the future and to understand the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation strategic priorities for our Global Health and Global Development/Agriculture work. To find specific team strategies, mouse over 'What We Do' in the gray bar, and select the team of interest to read their strategic priorities and goals.

Who can participate?

This is an open solicitation. We welcome submissions from organizations in all sectors (private, NGO, government, academic, and UN). Submission cannot come from individuals without organization affiliation.

Are multiple submissions from an institution allowed?

Yes, any organization can submit multiple proposals as long as the content of each proposal is different and each project is led by a different Principal Investigator. We discourage organizations from submitting the same application under different Principal Investigators.

Is there a specific format for the application?

Yes, please use the foundation application portal to submit a Letter of Inquiry (LOI). Select the "Learn more" button at <https://grandchallenges.org/grant-opportunities> and "Apply Now" to submit an application. The LOI application template is located on the main application page within the application portal.

What is the length of a grant that will be considered?

We will consider research studies that propose a rational timeline from inception to research completion that do not exceed two years.

What is the budget that will be considered?

We will consider research studies that propose appropriate costs for the study length, outcomes, and methods, and that propose strong value for money.

Am I able to edit my letter of inquiry once submitted?

You may edit your proposal up until the deadline of Wednesday, May 2, 2018, 11:30 am U.S. Pacific Standard Time. After the application deadline, you cannot edit your document. Requests to update a LOI document will not be accepted.

What are the focus countries for this RFP?

While we are not defining a set of countries, countries in South Asia and Sub-Saharan Africa with high rates of childhood under-nutrition are of specific interest.

If I am unable to identify a collaborator or sub-contractor, will the foundation help me identify such a group?

At the Letter of Inquiry (LOI) stage, the foundation is unable to facilitate collaborations for purposes of developing a LOI.

How do I submit my letter of inquiry?

All open grant programs are listed on the Grand Challenges Website. Navigate to the call you are interested in and click “Apply Now.” Applications must be submitted through the application portal. E-mailed applications will not be accepted.

When is my application due?

Applications are due no later than Wednesday, May 2, 2018, at 11:30 a.m. U.S. Pacific Standard Time. Late applications will not be accepted or considered.

Is it possible to have multiple applicants on a proposal?

Team collaborations are welcome within a single application. However, applicants need to elect a single Principal Investigator who will serve as the primary contact for the team. If awarded, the grant will be made to the Principal Investigator.

I am not presently employed by any organization. May I still apply?

In order to apply, you must be affiliated with an organization. The foundation currently does not grant to individuals.

Will I receive any compensation for submitting?

No, you will not receive any compensation for your submission even if it is used by the foundation or third parties in any way.

What amount of indirect cost is available? Do you accept my U.S. organization’s federally negotiated indirect cost rate?

The foundation allows indirect cost within certain guidelines at the following rates:

- 0% for governmental agencies, other private foundations, and ""for-profit"" organizations
- Up to maximum of 10% for U.S. universities
- Up to maximum of 15% for all other non-governmental organizations (NGOs), international organizations and non-U.S. universities
